ALLIANCE AVIATION GROUP NOW FLY ALLIANCE.

[ORLANDO, Florida, October 7, 2022] — Alliance Aviation Group is excited to enter the next chapter of the company as they come together under one name and one brand – Fly Alliance. All the current operations will fly under the new company name, Fly Alliance, which includes Wing Aviation Group, Wing Maintenance, Encore Plane Parts, and NXT Jet.

By bringing all the operations under the company name, Fly Alliance will look to maintain its continued growth within the aviation industry and make it easier for customers to search and select Fly Alliance. The new branding will not change any of the core capabilities of the company as Fly Alliance will continue to provide industry leading service to its customers.

“As we continue to grow as a company, we felt it was the appropriate time to bring all of our operations and services under one brand.” said Kevin Wargo, CEO of Fly Alliance. “Our focus on personalized customer service, responsiveness and communication creates a winning combination that sets us a notch above our competitors will not change.”

Fly Alliance will be participating at the 2022 NBAA Business Aviation Convention & Exhibition (NBAA-BACE) in Orlando, Florida on October 18 – 20. You can find them at booth # AD-403.

About Fly Alliance

Fly Alliance specializes in private jet charter, Jet Card membership and aircraft sales/management. Fly Alliance is headquartered in Orlando, FL (KORL) with offices in Stuart, FL (KSUA), Palm Beach, FL (KPBI), Miami, FL (KOPF), and Providence, RI (KPVD). We are bringing your private jet travel to a new level. Our key management members adopt a top-down philosophy to ensure that all systems and direct reports are working efficiently and to maximize potential. It is paramount that our Sales, Flight Support, Sourcing and Operations teams are all operating intrinsically.

With a combined experience including over 200,000 flight hours dispatched, over 2,000 Jet Card members serviced and over 300 aircraft transactions, we have a solution for each one of our customers.

Our common goal is, and always will be, Onward & Upward!
